Seth Freeman

Seth Freeman was raised in Tugaska Sask and grew up going to Eyebrow Free Methodist Church. This was his first pastoral training ground, teaching him the stories of the bible and giving him a lot of opportunity to hone his music. He responded to the call of God in high school and committed to pursuing pastoral training at Briercrest College in Caronport. In these years he not only deepened his knowledge of the scriptures, but also came to realize the importance and great task of the local church. After a brief time in Moose Jaw where he met his wife, Morgan, Seth moved back home to serve in the church at Eyebrow. For five years he has worked to help the church deepen their relationship with their Lord and reach out to their neighbours in love and grace. He and Morgan have 2 children: Ramya (age 6) and Titus (age 4) and they are already the boldest evangelists a church could ask for.

David Schuchardt

David Schuchardt was born and raised in Toronto, ON with scattered church participation growing up. At age 21 God laid hold of David with his gospel of Jesus Christ, which led him to pursue full-time ministry. He went to Tyndale where he earned his undergrad and master degrees. David also met his wife, Sarah, there — they married and have three beautiful daughters: Cassidy (age 17), Aislinn (age 14), and Maeve (age 10). On January 2014 David was appointed lead pastor of Northview Community Church and for the last three years David has been focused on a preaching and teaching ministry.

Symbols of Robe and Stole

The stole is a symbol of ordination and the office of the ministry of Word and Sacrament. The robe comes out of the Protestant Reformation and is meant to remind the ordinand of the central call to preach the word of God. The robe is a gift from David's family and the stole is a gift from Northview, made with love by Karen Kardynal.
