About The Regina Food Bank

The Regina Food Bank is a charitable community based organization working to eliminate hunger and food insecurity through nutritious food distribution, education and support programs in partnership and cooperation with the community.

Feeding a community is much more than the provision of food. We continue to innovate and provide services and supports that address the complex long term issues that create hunger and food insecurity.

We give thanks to all of you who share in our belief in the possibility of a caring community. Together we can fight hunger and feed hope and make a real difference in the lives of our neighbours and friends, many of whom turn to the food bank for help.
