Building A Discipling Culture

Part One: Understanding Discipleship

Chapter Four: “Building a Discipling Culture”

1. Are you daunted by the challenge of making disciples? Talk about how you feel and why.

2. Breen proposes that we all need approval, appetite, and ambition as human beings. Where do we generally get these from and does that stand in the way of our desire to disciple?

3. Breen describes five types of capital: spiritual, financial, intellectual, physical, and relational. How do you see these coming together to disciple other people?

4. Breen gives three keys to building a discipleship culture: a group, access, and language. Why do you think each of these is necessary? What would happen if any one of the elements were missing?
