

Transforming Discipleship

Questions for Chapter 6

1. Why do you think churches continue to need books like Transforming Discipleship when these models have been so clearly laid out already?

2. In a quote on page 114, “typical” church ministry is described. How does that summary compare to the life of Northview and what should that mean to us?

3. Ogden talks about the difference between program and relationship begins with the personal invitation. Would you ever prayerfully invite two or three persons into a discipleship relationship?

4. One difference Ogden outlines is a program focuses on delivering content, but relationships with forming Christ-likeness. What would be the markers of Christ-likeness you would look for?

5. How do you think the men at Northview would respond to the opportunity for intimate discipleship peer groups?

6. Is the temptation to seek momentary applause rather than the reproduction of discipleship life an issue at Northview? If so, how might we overcome it?

7. Having studied discipleship for almost 6 months, what is your definition of Christian discipleship?
