Easter Movies In The Village

In our last newsletter, we mentioned that we planned to show the Jesus Film over Easter. That feels like a very long time ago now. We showed two different films. One in Swahili on Saturday evening. On Sunday evening, we showed the last half of the King of Glory in Gabra. We had some rain late Saturday afternoon, so not as many people came to watch that film, but both showings were still well attended. Right before Easter weekend, a friend asked Joanne what the difference is between Christmas and Easter. Many people in our area are still young in their faith and knowledge of the Bible, so these films really help them to understand.

Update On Our Teammates

Gustavo & Miri had their baby boy at the beginning of April. Praise God that Miri and baby Heber are both doing well. They plan to travel up to Hurri Hills next week.

We made it to Morgan & Abi's wedding, which was about an 8 hour drive from Hurri Hills. Hannah was a very cute flower girl and had a lot of fun. They are now spending this next year split between the UK (where Morgan is from) and the US (where Abi is from). They hope to move to Hurri Hills in about a year from now.

Leadership Training

Last weekend we attended a kickoff to a year long leadership training program that AIM provides. The program is called "Leading From The Inside Out." We spent lots of time getting to know each other within the group, and doing self-reflection to identify some of our strengths, weaknesses, dreams, fears, and what we want to improve on this next year. Every month we will read a book and interact with each other online.

We Got A Mailbox

We opened up a mailbox at the closest post office to our home. It is a 4 hour drive from our house, but we pass through that town about every 6-12 weeks. Letters are fairly reliable in reaching us, but packages can be hit or miss.

Life In Hurri Hills

Between getting back from the wedding, and leaving for the leadership training, we had a few weeks back at home. Jason led a crew doing road maintenance on a very rocky patch of the road. Both Olivia and Hannah had a stomach bug. We got quite a bit of rain (16 inches in the last 2.5 months). Jason met with the evangelists to encourage and disciple them. Joanne started looking at the logistics of starting to do a children's time during church (now that Olivia no longer naps in Joanne's arms during church). We had some Gabra language lessons. Jason did some repairs on the radio tower that does Christian broadcasting in Gabra. Hannah started to regularly play with a small group of friends. We look forward to getting back to these "normal life things" when we go back home again next week.
